President's Message: John Hartung

In the latter part of October, the Idaho Department of Education announced that the teacher release dates for 1983, previously set as October 6 and 7, would be changed to October 13 and 14. As a result of this date change, the dates for the joint IEMA/ILA conference were put in question. A joint program planning meeting of the ILA division chairmen, ILA president, and the IEMA executive board was held on November 13 in McCall. The meeting became a site and date discussion dealing with the complications of the release date change.

Prior to attending the meeting, the ILA executive board was polled by telephone as to available options. These options included holding the joint conference at the original site on the original date; holding the joint conference on the new release dates at a variety of sites including Coeur d'Alene, Moscow, Sun Valley, Boise, Pocatello; or postponing the joint conference until October 1984.

As a result of the telephone conversations, personal discussions, and the McCall meeting discussion, a decision was unanimously reached at McCall to postpone the joint conference until October 1984. The feelings of all participants in the meeting were that the difficulties posed by the shift of release dates at such a late stage of planning would seriously jeopardize the success of the joint conference if held in 1983. The commitment to a joint conference was unanimously reaffirmed.

ILA will hold the 1983 conference on October 6-8 at the North Shore Resort Hotel in Coeur d'Alene. Tentative program suggestions include a discussion (panel?) of library roles in the general community with a view toward increased community support, workshops with Caroline Feller Bauer and other authors, and additional practical workshops. Suggestions are welcome.

Now that the 1982 election is over, it is time to contact the new legislators in your area and inform them about the situation of libraries in Idaho. The 1983 legislative session will be very important for the future of all libraries in Idaho. The ILA legislative committee will be working for positive legislation as well as financial support. Lobby! As the ALA poster says, "Libraries can get you through times of no money better than money can get you through times of no libraries."

WSU too long and that it was time for a change. BSU looked good because it was a growing university located in the Northwest, with a library small enough for its head of reference to be involved in reference work. Adrien says he has enjoyed his stay at BSU but likes less the almost incessant budget cuts that have slowed BSU's growth and damaged its quality. He is proudest of the great increase in the number of reference questions received during his stay.

Presently Adrien continues to labor in the vineyard at BSU bringing library service to the masses. When not at the library, he reads, gardens, cooks, listens to music, maintains his house and cars, pays his bills, and, together with his wife, Marilyn, a librarian at Boise Public Library, happily raises three daughters.

Anne Matjeka is a reference librarian at Boise State University.

Tea dancers raise $1,500

The fifth annual Tea Dance, held at the Sun Valley Inn, raised $1,500 for the community library. In addition to the price for tickets, the library used gigolos to raise additional revenue. The men sold dances to any takers, and their feet were moving all night.

Missionary's diary donated to U of I Library

The University of Idaho Library has received the original diary kept by Kate McBeth during part of the time she was stationed on the Nez Perce Reservation at Spalding as a Christian missionary, 1879-1891. The gift also includes a notebook in which McBeth recorded the legends of the Nez Perce as she understood them.

The diary is the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Morrill of Beaver Falls, Pa., who have spent the past 20 years researching the story of the McBeth sisters for their book Out of the Blanket, published by the University Press of Idaho in 1978.

President's Message: John Hartung

In a 1977 president's message, Milo Nelson wrote of building "Another Sandcastle". Six years later, I think it is an apt image for Idaho libraries and the Idaho Library Association. In working and preparing for an annual conference, the president, executive board, and committees are rather like sandcastle builders. We raise yearly edifices for the contemplation of the members and then allow the tides of time and apathy to wash them away.

Five years ago this month, the Governor's Conference on Libraries released a series of resolutions concerning the future of Idaho libraries.* Although some are inapplicable now due to time and events, the list is still one of the most recent collections of public opinions concerning libraries. Yet few, if any, have been discussed in any detail following the surge of sandcastle building in 1978 and 1979. Our grand pronouncements are lost in the ordinary business of "business as usual."

"Business as usual" means watch and wait and survive. In 1983 that certainly describes the situation for Idaho libraries. Library legislation and library political thought have been low-key, working towards unspectacular goals. The current "status quo" political situation is, and probably will be, the situation for another year. Previous presidents' messages have stressed lobbying, getting political and dealing with the clouds of fiscal gloom that hang over our collective heads. Despite these problems, the libraries of Idaho continue to survive and serve—providing the beach for those of us who wish to build.

We need your support. Committee participation is low. The Intellectual Freedom Committee needs members, as do the Continuing Education, Public Relations, and Bibliography committees. There are six months until the conference. Consider for a moment the goals and resolutions which remain untouched. There are concerns for all librarians, friends, and supporters of libraries to address. If you have concerns, get involved; write a letter, talk to your legislator, join a committee. Build a sandcastle.

John Hartung, Director
Kootenai County Library and
President, ILA

Six Months in the New Gold-Diggings: Placer Gold Mining in Idaho Territory in 1863. John L. Campbell. Fairfield, Washington: Ye Galleon Press, 1979. 85 p. LC 79-23370. $9.95. Reprint of the 1864 edition published by J.R. Walsh, Chicago, under the title: Idaho: Six Months in the New Gold Diggings.

This slim and attractively bound volume is chiefly about Montana and most of Wyoming and modern Idaho, which in 1863 were known as the Idaho Territory. It was written in 1863 by John Lyle Campbell, a reporter for the Chicago Tribune. There remain only three copies of the original work in the Pacific Northwest. Six Months in the New Gold-Diggings is a typical guidebook of the nineteenth century—far from thorough in coverage—but somewhat more accurate than most.

Campbell's brief account of his trip from Chicago to Bannock is quite undistinguished and there are many better narratives of the Oregon trail as far west as Wyoming. He discussed the climate, land surface, timber resources, and agricultural possibilities along the route, with great emphasis on what is now Montana. He suggested that steamshipping might develop along the upper Missouri and tributary rivers.

Campbell reported there were between thirty and forty thousand settlers in the gold mining areas, some along the Salmon River but mostly at Bannock and Virginia City. "Claims that do not pay ten dollars per day to the hand are not worked, as the whole country seems auriferous and abounds in ounce diggings, and in many instances the sluices yield the shining metal by the pound." He found wages, lumber, and the cost of food to be high-priced. The Indians of the area he dismissed in a page. Campbell discussed what was necessary to equip four people with an outfit adequate for the trip, recommended only those with "great industry and perseverance" make the journey, and advised those who already had "good homes and means of livelihood" to stay put.

Six Months in the New Gold-Diggings is a book which will impress the modern reader with the courage of those who went West with no more advance knowledge than this book to see them safely there. It can be purchased by those who wish to have such a guidebook in their collection, since it is available and representative.
